Present Research Interest

Immunology remained throughout my research career as a subject very close to my heart. Human diarrheal diseases and ayurvedic herbal drugs, to treat specially the bacterial diarrhea, are of immense importance for me. Our intense research findings provided sound basis for carrying out further scientific studies on clinical standardization, reproducibility and credibility of results for final global acceptability to these ayurvedic herbal drugs- the futuristic drugs of choice, besides, establishing the exciting discipline- Herbal Immunology. Further, the science of Yoga for empowering immune system and mind-body coordination serving like molecular medicine, as complementary approach for quality life to human beings, has attracted me immensely and my researches on these lines are continuously going on. I am presently focusing on researches for better human health and quality life by contributing in the field of traditional system of healthcare and complementary medicine.
